++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry and sunny, but perhaps wintry showers across Pennines.

Today:
After a cold and frosty start many areas will have a dry, sunny but cold day. However, cloudier conditions will persist across the Pennines, with possibly some wintry showers arriving here. This evening temperatures will quickly fall. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tonight:
Isolated wintry showers may continue across the Pennines, but most places will be dry with clear periods, with possibly some patchy freezing fog forming. A widespread sharp frost will develop. Minimum temperature -6 deg C (21 deg F).

Sunday:
After a very frosty start it will remain cold with temperatures hardly climbing above freezing, despite long sunny periods and light winds, once any early patchy freezing fog slowly clears. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Frosty start then cold with sunny spells, and mainly dry, for Monday. Widespread overnight frost. Tuesday mainly dry and bright, then snow overnight. Wednesday any residual snow easing, becoming milder.
